Once upon a time...

Bio: Born in Genoa, Italy in 1957, former pro basketball player, olimpic silver medalist in Moskow 1980, European Champion in 1983, from 1995–2000 commissioner of italian and european basketball players association, 2002–2009 sport commentator for RAITV, 2009–20013 commissioner of Legadue, italian basketball league.*

Background: I traveled most of the world for business and leisure, mostly in beautiful hotels, but I was missing those things that only a private home can offer: exclusive objects, carefully selected food and a host to help you enjoy your vacation. If you share my passion for high class hospitality, gourmet food and wine, great outdoors and unforgettable sunsets, come to Sycily and be my guest in the golden town of Noto and the island Pantelleria, the dugther of the wind.*

Noto, Sicilia

Just an hour ride from Catania airport, Noto is the best example of sicilian baroque style, well preserved Roman villas and beautiful unspoiled beaches just few minutes away. You will love the gourmet restaurants and pasticceria, the fresh white wines and the intense nose of the great reds, but i bet you'll never forget the passito. Or simply, after a day at the beach just sit on the Cathedral steps as the sunset turns Noto in the city of gold and let the old stones whisper their tale.
